

GABRIEL LOBATO RAMOS

E-Mail g.lobato-ramos23@imperial.ac.uk

EDUCATION

---

Imperial College London

PhD in Finance

London, GB

09/2023 – 06/2028

Relevant courses: Applied Econometrics I & II, Asset Pricing, Corporate Finance, Data Analysis Tools, Econometrics, Macroeconomics, and Microeconomics.

Barcelona School of Economics - Universitat Pompeu Fabra

Master Degree in Economics and Finance (Finance Track)

Barcelona, CT, Spain

09/2018 – 07/2019

Thesis: Estimating Time-Varying Network Effects with Application to Portfolio Allocation.

Relevant courses: Asset Pricing, Corporate Finance, Econometrics I, Econometric Methods II, and Financial Econometrics.

University of Brasilia

Bachelor of Statistics

Brasilia, DF, Brazil

03/2014 – 12/2017

Thesis: Applications of Cointegration and Multivariate ARMA Models.

Relevant courses: Bayesian Inference, Calculus I, II, & III, Computational Statistics, Linear Regression Analysis, Nonparametric Statistics, Statistical Inference, Stochastic Processes, and Time Series Analysis.

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

---

Visiting Researcher, Center for Empirical Studies in Economics (FGV/EPGE)

Fundação Getulio Vargas

Rio de Janeiro, RJ, Brazil

05/2025 – Present

- Access to restricted Brazilian administrative datasets such as RAIS and other microdata.
- Responsible for managing data access, cleaning, and structuring large-scale microdata for empirical analysis on household finances and labor market outcomes.

Visiting Researcher, Central Bank of Brazil

Research Department (DEPEP)

Rio de Janeiro, RJ, Brazil

05/2025 – 03/2026

- Worked with confidential loan-level credit registry data linked to worker-level employment records.
- Cleaned, structured, and analyzed large administrative datasets to study how banks, credit, employment, and firm outcomes behave around climate-related shocks.

Pre-Doctoral Research Fellow, The University of Chicago Booth School of Business

Researcher in Finance Department under Professor Emanuele Colonnelli

Chicago, IL, USA

08/2020 – 07/2023

- Development of statistical and econometric models, application of data science tools, development of financial models, text-mining tools, experiments, and survey instruments for research in venture capital, private equity, corporate finance, development finance, and entrepreneurial finance.
- Exposure to R, Python, Stata, LaTeX, and Linux.

Research Analyst, CaixaBank

CaixaBank Research - Financial Markets Research Unit

Barcelona, CT, Spain

09/2019 – 06/2020

- Development of text mining tools to process statements from the Federal Reserve and ECB.
- Research and development of an internal Economic Conditions Index.
- Model and predict term structure of interest rates for standard EU government-issued securities.

WORKING PAPERS AND PUBLICATIONS

---

- Polarizing Corporations: Does Talent Flow to “Good” Firms? (with Emanuele Colonnelli, Tim McQuade, Thomas Rauter, and Olivia Xiong). Revise & Resubmit, Journal of Political Economy.
- ESG is the Most Polarizing Nonwage Amenity: Evidence from a Field Experiment in Brazil (with Emanuele Colonnelli, Tim McQuade, Thomas Rauter, and Olivia Xiong). AEA Papers and Proceedings, Forthcoming.
- The “sense and sensibility” of the ECB’s communication (with Adrià Morron Salmeron). CaixaBank Research, November 2019.

- The financial cycle and the era of low interest rates: a change of narrative? (with Javier García Arenas, Adrià Morron Salmeron, and Pablo Pastor y Camarasa). CaixaBank Research, March 2020.

GRANTS AND AWARDS

---

- Award: 2024 Midwest Finance Association Outstanding Paper Award for Polarizing Corporations: Does Talent Flow to “Good” Firms?
- Grant: J-PAL Jobs and Opportunity Initiative Brazil 2024 (Co-PI) [BRL 200,000].
- Award: 2025 Imperial Business School Best and Highest Scoring Second Year PhD Paper.

SKILLS

---

- Languages: Portuguese (native), Spanish (native), English (fluent), and French (fluent).
- Programming: R, Python, Stata, Matlab, SQL, SAS, and LaTeX.